*God looks at me from up above in the beauty of the flowers;
He shows his bounties great, untold, in the winds and in the showers.
God's love shines down on humble me, in the smile of a dearest friend;
It comes at dawn with the light of each morn, and with stars when day doth end.
And all those things which so beautiful are, are gifts of God's own love.
Help me to give my thanks to thee for all things from above.
When beautiful, wondrous things I see, help me to link them with thee;
And never let me in my life forget thy love to me.*

O my fine companion, what do you want? I would like to sing a song.
Why? Why should I? Why not? Because I don't want to.
Why don't you want to? Because I don't like it!
Shut up, I say! You shut up! You big fool! Yes, Sir!
Come on, no more! Let's go! Goodbye, good echo!
Peace be with you! Enough!*
